

WILL ENFORCE IT WILL

HASKELL TELLS WHERE HE STANDS ON PROHIBITION.

J. S. MURRAY WITHDRAWS

Received Majority Vote in Primary For Labor Commissioner But Don't Want the Office.

Oklahoma City, O. T., June 20.—The Democratic state convention adjourned yesterday. Before adjournment C. N. Haskell, Democratic nominee for governor, made a speech in which he declared that if elected he would enforce the constitution and promised in substance to enforce prohibition if the submission ordinance for state-wide prohibition carried at the polls.

He said on this point: "Being one of those who took part in framing the constitution, and fully believing in its provisions, I pledge adherence to its spirit and intentions as well as to its every letter, and the platform adopted by the Democrats of Oklahoma in convention assembled shall be my guide."

Haskell's address was delivered from a typewritten manuscript, and after the convention had turned down the prohibition enforcement plank he placed himself on record by interlining the following sentence, which was included in his speech:

"It being my distinct understanding and pledge that all provisions of the constitution adopted by the people and all laws adopted by the legislature on the part of the people are to be emphatically enforced."

T. P. Levy, of Guthrie, president of the Citizens League, opposing state-wide prohibition, said after the convention adjourned:

"I take the vote defeating the Owen amendment as an indication that the people will defeat the state-wide prohibition ordinance by 40,000."

Candidates on the Democratic state ticket made another attempt late yesterday to break the campaign committee state said to have been fixed up by Haskell.

J. S. Murray, of Emmet, although receiving 8,000 plurality in the primaries over C. L. Daugherty, Oklahoma City, for labor commissioner, withdrew from the ticket in favor of Daugherty.

BREWERS TO FIGHT STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

Oklahoma City, June 22.—(Special.)—As the result of a series of conferences of the brewery interest of the country in Oklahoma city with reference to the submission of the separate provision of the constitution declaring for state wide prohibition an organized fight will be made to defeat that part of the document. The final arrangements were discussed at a meeting held in the Thredgill hotel yesterday evening, which was attended by representatives of the largest liquor and brewery interests in the south and west.

Henry Braun of Guthrie presided over the meeting and the thorough organization that has been worked up is largely due to him. He is of the opinion that the Indian Territory will assist Oklahoma in keeping this 21 year restriction from being thrown around them also and it is upon this supposition that the fight will be made. The anti-saloon league is also making a strenuous fight. They were given a serious draw-back at the Democratic state convention recently, when Haskell refused to put a prohibition plank in his platform.

Oklahoma City, June 21.—The Confederate veterans of the department of Oklahoma and Indian Territory will hold a joint reunion at South McAlester, August 19, 20 and 21, at which time will be effected the amalgamation of two departments in view of impending statehood.

General John W. Jordan, commander of the Department of Indian Territory was in Oklahoma City Wednesday in conference with General John Thredgill, commander of the department of Oklahoma, and as a result of the conference the dates and place of meeting were arranged.

It is expected that this joint meeting marking the union of the two divisions, will be one of the largest gatherings of veterans of the gray ever held in either of the territories.

MURRAY WILL CALL THE CONVENTION

Oklahoma City, June 20.—President W. H. Murray stated yesterday that he will call another session of the constitutional convention immediately following the decision of the supreme court, June 25, in the injunction cases. It is stated that if the court sustains the injunction, the convention will change the constitution so that an election will be possible.

CRUCE FOR HASKELL

Defeated Candidate Promises Support and Pleads for Democratic Harmony.

Oklahoma City, June 20.—Cruce was given an ovation when called to the platform by Murray during the Democratic convention here yesterday. Cruce said:

"I come to you today to plead for Democratic unity and Democratic harmony. I will promise you now to put up a better fight for the ticket than I did for myself. I will say now that you of my friends who were loyal to me will be just as loyal to Haskell. I will do all I can for Haskell and will expect you to do likewise. Don't be overconfident; I expected to win by thirty thousand votes, but didn't. The voters can afford to be magnanimous, and now the Doyle and Cruce men are ready to get behind the whole ticket."

Cruce also declared he was a most ardent admirer of Bryan.

"I would rather see Bryan president than to be elected governor of Oklahoma."

The speech of Cruce puts his followers in Haskell's band wagon with both seat and in the reserved seats.

GIVES MORTGAGE FOR $1,000 WIN AGAINST SLUSH FUND

Oklahoma City, June 20.—As T. P. Gore the Democratic nominee for the United States senate, told the story of his campaign, tears choked the eyes of his little wife, who sat near him on the stage. Gore had mortgaged his little home for $1,000 to get money to carry on his campaign. His wife had addressed his literature with the aid of her neighbors, and the $1,000 had won over M. L. Turner's $60,000 fund and Roy Hoffman's $60,000. Gore told it all to the convention last night.

"I have spent $1,000 in my campaign," said Gore. "I have not paid a man a single dollar to work for me. I have never bought a cigar or a drink for any man, and I did not have out a single carriage to take the voters to the polls. The people who came to the polls from the farms and the factories gave me their votes and I was elected."

I owe everything to the untiring efforts of C. H. Pitman, my lifelong friend, and his voice grew husky: "The little brown-eyed woman, my wife, God bless her, who has cheered and encouraged me through the struggle of life, and more than everything else to the prayers of my mother back in Mississippi."

Don't let your child suffer with that cough when you can cure it with Ballard's Horehound Syrup, a sure cure for coughs, bronchitis, influenza, croup and pulmonary diseases. Buy a bottle and try it. WIND AND LIGHTNING CAUSE DISASTER IN OIL FIELDS. MANY HOUSES BLOWN DOWN

Damage in the Glen Pool Estimated at a Half Million Dollars—Lightning Struck in Many Places.

Tulsa, I. T., June 23.—Lightning and high wind did about a million dollars worth of damage in this part of the Indian Territory this morning. Lightning struck the 35,000-barrel storage tank of the Quaker Oil and Gas company near here and set it afire. It is still burning tonight. A bolt also struck the 100,000-barrel tank of the Victor Oil and Gas company in the Glen pool and scattered the burning oil. A dozen other small tanks were set afire and burned all day. The Standard Oil company's tank farm at Coody's Bluff was struck in several places and tanks were demolished. The wind blew down many farm houses and barns. Reports received from Lamona, Okemah, Nowata and other points tell of much wind damage. Trees were uprooted. The heavy rain inundated several villages. As far as is known no lives have been lost. Two houses in Tulsa were struck by lightning. Several men were injured by lightning shocks while trying to save property in the Glen pool.

The telegraph and telephone wires were put out of order in many places.

MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Body of Jas. R. Meadows, Missing From Oklahoma City Since June 4, Found in Shallow Grave.

Oklahoma City, June 23.—With a ghastly bullet wound in the left corner of his mouth, his knees bent under his body, covered in a grave two feet deep, a bullet hole in his forehead, the badly decomposed remains of James R. Meadows, construction foreman for the Pioneer Telephone company of this city, were found at 1 o'clock three miles from this city after the officers had been directed to the spot by Rudolph Tegeler.

The mystery of the disappearance of Meadows, which has baffled the police since June 4, was solved. Tegeler, Mrs. Lila Meadows, wife of the dead man, and her friend, Laura Keith, have all been arrested and will be held in await developments.

Circumstances thus far brought to light indicate a cleverly planned plot, but by whom is not charged.

Coroner Shaffer will hold an inquest Monday, and a number of witnesses have been summoned.

EMPLOYEES FEAR AX

J. George Wright Will Return to Muskogee Sunday and There May Be Something Doing.

Muskogee, I. T., June 20.—J. George Wright, recently appointed commissioner to the Five Civilized Tribes to succeed Tamm, will return home from Washington Sunday.

There is a great deal of anxiety among the employees of the commission and the inspector's office, owing to the uncertainty of things. It is believed that many of those on the commission will be let out and friends of Wright appointed. Those employed in the inspector's office are also looking for a change.

PADDING THE ROLLS

Osages Complain to Secretary Garfield that 240 Bogus Indians Have Been Added.

Washington, June 21.—It developed today that Secretary of the Interior Garfield has had special agents at work for some time gathering information against alleged bogus Indians placed on the rolls of the Osage Nation.

It is reported the Osages informed Secretary Garfield some time ago that the rolls had been padded with 240 bogus Indians.

A member in the Osage tribe is worth, in land and money, about $2,500. The Osages, individually, are the richest Indians in the world. On account of this fact, all sorts of devices have been engineered to get bogus Indians on the rolls. It is hinted several statesmen well known in Washington and the West used political pulls to pad the rolls. Many cases are asserted where forged affidavits were used to establish membership in the tribe.

A Philadelphia lawyer had charge of the special agents' investigation. A message from Washburn to the department today states that he has completed the investigation and will file his report here perhaps next week.

Secretary Garfield will take matters into his own hands and strike the names of the bogus Indians as shown in the report from the rolls. If the government succeeds in striking the 240 names from the rolls it will save the Osage Indians about $6,000,000 in land and money.

PEACEMAKER KILLED

Row at Ice Cream Social Results in the Killing of Tom Townsend at Tahlequah Saturday Night

Tahlequah, I. T., June 24.—Tom P. Townsend, who was acting as peace-maker in a drunken brawl which occurred Saturday night between several young men at an ice cream social in the Lowrey home three miles southwest of town, was shot and instantly killed by Bushyhead Woods, Frank Woods, who was struck on the head with a rock, lies in a critical condition and may not live.

No one seemed to know how the affair started. Frank Woods became involved in a fight, which started in the Lowrey house and ended in a general melee in the yard, in which rocks were used as weapons. Bushyhead Woods rushed to the rescue of his brother and tried to stop the fight. At the same time Townsend rushed in and tried to act as peace-maker. Thinking he was the man who started the trouble, Bushyhead fired three shots, killing him instantly.

As soon as Woods realized what he had done he fled toward the Arkansas hills. A posse is now out on his trail.

All parties concerned in the row were more or less under the influence of whisky and a determined effort to stamp out bootleggers will result.

Wood is proprietor of the New State barber shop and his family is prominent here.

110,000 BALLOTS WERE RECENTLY CAST BY VOTERS

Oklahoma City, June 21.—I believe when the ballots are all received it will be found that fully 110,000 votes were cast in the recent Democratic state primary election, and we already know from the votes received that from 6,000 to 10,000 more votes were cast at the primary than in the constitutional delegate election last fall," said W. L. Chapman, secretary of the Democratic state central committee.

In view of the fact that one-half of the counties in the new state were unorganized, it is a wonder that the returns were so complete as they were, for only the counties of Cimarron and Logan remain unreported.

It is reported that there were only 110 votes cast in Logan county and Logan county Democrats were so downcast by the small party vote that they will not make any report to the committee.

A very surprising fact in connection with the vote on United States senators is that while 106,000 votes were reported in Oklahoma, only 90,000 votes were cast for this office in Indian Territory.

The convention was representative and harmonious. The state committee in its recent resolutions declared it would seat no delegates at the Tulsa convention elected in advance of the issuance of a call. If the state committee attempts to enforce this order an interesting contest may be expected at Tulsa.

The resolutions adopted endorsed Governor Francis DeWitt, President Roosevelt, and strongly endorsed the candidacy of Maj. H. D. McKnight of Lawton for the Republican nomination for congress in the fifth district.

Jackson is one of the new counties created by the division of old Greer county. In the Democratic primary Haskell secured a big majority over Cruce in Jackson county.
